most important milestone in her brilliant history, as the light of a New Dawn casts its rays of happiness over millions of her people. A struggle-and a triumph-in these words lie the history of a nation born again.

Similarly, the struggles and the triumphs of our organization in this past fifty years have enabled us to forge ahead to the forefront of one of this country's most important industries for the progress of transportation and in the service of motorists everywhere.

We are happy that we shall have the privilege of serving India in the New Order, supporting her in all her ambitious undertakings.

Today the House of Goodyear salutes the Republic of India on this historical and auspicious occasion.
