ADVICE TO CONFERENCE

He thought it would be a "tactical and strategic move not to launch on such a course." Assuming the Socialist Party came to power in the elections, he, for one, would not rush to change the Constitution. The party should then introduce legislation for economic and BHAGALPUR, July 10: A post

"SABOTAGE" OF PARTY

Earlier in the day, replying to criticism on the General Secretary's training course, Mr. Mehta empha-report, Mr. Narayan warned the sised the need for systematic trainmembers against "any attempt at ing in administration and other sabotage of the party" by forming matters connected with local selfgroups within the party. Strict disciplinary action would be taken against such of those who were found guilty of such charges by a competent tribunal, he said. He, however, assured them that there would be no "witch-hunting of suspected persons."

The conference adopted the report of the General Secretary, only one member dissenting.

The conference in a resolution on the problems of millions of India's peasantry directed the members of the party to turn their attention towards the villages. The resolution, moved

Mr Ramanandan Mistra (Bihar) said "The unnatural pre-occupation with urban problems of current politics must be corrected by the Socialist Party. Under the slogan 'One ist Party. Only such a vast onward movement of the people towards reconstruction and struggle can bring light and hope to the groaning villages.

The conference called upon every member to fulfil the three-fold task of construction, struggle and organisation in the coming year and thereby make the party a mighty social force.

RACIALISM IN SOUTH AFRICA

The conference warned the Government of the Union of South Africa against the continuance of the policy of racialism which was "opposed to all modern concepts of de-

The conference also believed that when Indian nationals were in this manner "degraded and discriminated against by a member of the Commonwealth, India's continuance as an equal co-partner in the Commonwealth is a mockery and sooner the Government of India withdraw from it the better."

The conference sent its greetings to the peoples of Indo-China and Malaya in their struggle for freedom and demanded the withdrawal of all foreign armies and other kinds of foreign intervention.

The conference viewed with alarm "the recent extension of Great- Guha Roy, Special Judge, today Power-rivalry to Asia" and said "the framed charges of frontiers of neutrality and freedom are ever contracting and more and under the more countries are being drawn into against 23 the vortex of this international known as the Dum struggle for power."

BOMBAY STATE FOOD CROPS

"Late Rains May Affect Output"

Late rains might ultimately affect the yield of food grains n Bombay State this year, Mr. D. N. Mahta, Secretary, Department of Agriculture, Bombay Government. stated in an interview in Bombay on Monday. The extent of shortage, however, would depend upon the amount and the distribution of rainfall, he added.

There had been "fairly general" rainfall in Gujerat, Maharashtra, the Karnatak and the Konkan. Owing to the delay in the monsoon, all early-sown paddy in Thana and districts had withered away and would now have to be re-sown. Mr. Mahta said, that, apart from the damage to paddy, sown cotton in Broach district had also been badly affected, necessitating re-sowing. He stated that the bajri crop would also suffer "very much" owing to the late rains.

INCREASING PADDY YIELD IN BOMBAY 'Khar' Land Development

The development of khar lands was expected to enrich the food supply of Bombay annually by about 50,000 tons of paddy at the end of the next three years, it was stated in Bombay on Monday.

The supply may further be increased by 150,000 tons per year if the existing 200,000 acres of "cultivable" khar lands are brought under the plough.

The Khar Lands Development Board met at the Secretariat on Monday and approved 22 new schemes at an estimated expenditure of Rs. 1,84,000. These schemes will benefit an area of about 6,556 acres of saline land. The schemes will be put into execution in Septemher and will be completed by beginning of the next monsoon. In addition to these 22 schemes, the Board has so far approved 33 of Rs. 32,00,000.

The Government's attitude of indifference to the protection of Hindu temples cannot but cause concern to all Hindus. Neither Pandit Nehru nor Sardar Patel had the courtesy of even acknowledging an urgen telegram from the Hindu Maha Mandalam, representing 45 lakhs of Hindus of Travancore-Cochin State. The telegram related to the burning down of the Sabarimala temple and ran as follows:

What you can do against Appendicitis

Stomach-ache or appendicitis? That is for your doctor to tell! Greatest appendicitis dangers: home remedies, delayl

Appendicitis needn't frighten you, if recognized in time! Serious consequences from appendicitis can nearly always be avoided by proper, early treatment. However, appendicitis (an inflammation of the appendix, which is a small organ attached to the large intestine) often feels like a simple stomach-ache. Many people ignore it until too late! If the doctor were always called immediately after this pain starts, the number of deaths from appendicitis could be cut in half!

"Safety First" Rules

Symptoms: Pain in the abdomen, sometimes with nausea, vomiting, slight fever. Follow the above "life-saving" rules.

Warning! Don't treat yourself! Most common mistake that is made—taking a laxative or enema. This often causes the appendix to "rupture" and spread the infection. A study of appendicitis made in a large city showed that deaths were more than cut in half when laxatives were avoided. So don't take home remedies, don't apply ice bags or hot water bottles. With any suspicious stomach-ache, be very sure to call your doctor at once! He alone can properly diagnose and correctly treat it. .

Modern surgery and new drugs have eliminated most risks of appendectomies. Recovery is surer, quicker, pleasanter!

if your doctor recommends an operation, follow his advice, and don't worry. Usually the removal of an appendix is a "routine" operation which the surgeon has performed countless times, and which takes only a few minutes. And now, new drugs and modern anesthetics assure safer operations and protection against complications. You can reasonably expect (1) a pleasant convalescence (2) release from the hospital in less than a week (3) return to normal health in less than 3 weeks!

• This is one of a series of articles on basic health problems. In them you will discover how faithful co-operation with your doctor can not only safeguard, but improve your daily well-being, your chances for a long and healthy life. () 1980, & A. Squibb & Secs
